

BIOGRAPHY

Headquarters, US Army Combat Support Training Center and US Army Garrison Fort

Building 238, California Avenue-Fort Hunter Liggett, California 93928-7000-- www.liggett.army.mil

The U.S. Army Reserve's Premier Training Center for the Western United States

BIOGRAPHY #: 2008-11-04-01

MARK HAMELIN DEPUTY TO THE COMMANDER, US ARMY GARRISON FORT HUNTER LIGGETT

Mark Hamelin serves as the Deputy to the Garrison Commander for the U.S. Army Combat Support Training Center (CSTC), headquartered at Fort Hunter Liggett, Calif., May 2007. Prior to this assignment, Mr. Hamelin served as the site manager at Fort Hunter Liggett, Calif.

A native of California, he graduated from San Bernardino High School in 1979 and enlisted in the U.S. Air Force where he served in Germany and California as a law enforcement specialist for four years.

He entered Federal Civil Service with the Veterans Administration in 1983. He has held several positions during his more than 30 years of service to the government including: training and operations officer for the Law Enforcement Command at Fort Ord, Calif., from 1988 to 1992; provost marshal and chief of police for the law enforcement activity at Fort Hunter Liggett, Calif., from 1992 to 1995; executive officer to the commander at Fort Hunter Liggett, Calif., from 1995 to 2004; and site manager at Fort Hunter Liggett, Calif.

He has attended numerous schools during his career including Modesto Junior College in Modesto, Calif.; Monterey Peninsula College in Monterey Calif.; Hartnell College in Salinas, Calif., and Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

He is a graduate of the Army Management Staff College Garrison Pre-Command Course; Personnel Management for Executives; the Army Command and General Staff College Organizational Leadership for Executives; Labor Relations for Executives as well as numerous other professional management and technical training courses.